Rep. Lott cites military neglect; 'Avenue of Flags' dedicated

By ELLIS CUEVAS
Hancock County Veterans didn't forget their comrades on Memorial Day, 1978.

The special day opened with a 10 a.m. memorial service at the grave of Clement R. Bontemps in St. Mary's Cemetery, Bay St. Louis, conducted by Bay St. Louis Clement R. Bontemps American Legion Post 139 and its Auxiliary.

Post Chaplain Joseph Benvenutti led the special service.

Highlight of the Memorial Day observance came at 11 a.m. in Waveland when Bourgeois-Stieffel-Ray American Legion Post 77 presented a well planned service featuring an address by Rep. Trent Lott of Mississippi Gulf Coast Fifth Congressional District. Through the efforts of Lott, the city of Waveland and American Legion Post 77, Coleman Avenue for the special occasion was lined with 100 flags - 50 American flags and 50 state flags.

"I have always enjoyed working for the people of Waveland through the years. I was proud to drive down the Avenue of the Flags and I hope you will take care of them," Lott said.

"I want to thank the Legion for the fine work they are doing throughout this state. It is good to see young men in the American Legion. I thank the Legion for what you are doing and for what you have done," the Congressman continued.

"I hope that you will work harder to get more younger Veterans from the Vietnam era," he added.

"This is a time for us to take a moment and to stop and be thankful for the country in which we live. It is also a time to say a prayer for those who died in Vietnam, Korea, World War II and World War I," he went on.

"Five years ago the POW's came home. Those POW's went through the worst of tortures which so many people have already forgotten," Lott said.

Speaking on national defense, Lott said, "The only way for the United States to stay out of a war is to be strong."

"There is a trend to forget about the military today, it is a dangerous thing. We made a commitment to the military and we must keep that commitment,"

MCCC challenges Conference to lift ethics code restrictions

Restrictions imposed by a Code of Judicial Ethics has prevented any meaningful questioning of candidates for Hancock County judgeships by the Mississippi Coast Crime Commission, MCCC President Ken Combs reported this week.

Also in connection with Tuesday's election the Hancock County Executive Committees of both Democratic and Republican Parties have issued lists of poll managers, commissioners and Peace and Returning Officers.

"MCCC sent questionnaires to all candidates for judge recently, and has learned that the Mississippi Conference of Judges adopted a 'Code of Judicial Conduct of Mississippi's Judges' in October, 1974, which effectively prevents their answering," he said.

Inquiry was made of the Mississippi Supreme Court and a copy of the Code secured.

Canon 7 B(1)(c) relating to political activity of judges and candidates of states they "should not make pledges or promises of conduct in office other than the faithful and impartial performance of the duties of the office; (nor) announce his views on disputed legal or political issues; or misrepresent his identity, qualifications, present position or other fact."

A violation of these provisions may result in a candidate being censured by the Conference of Judges, Combs said. The Code was not established by the Mississippi legislature, he added.

The restrictions make it possible for a candidate for judge to state his name, his background and his intention to "impartially perform the duties" if elected, and to decline to answer all questions as to his attitude of philosophy regarding specific, serious questions about his conduct if elected judge, Combs said.

In the past, MCCC has sent questionnaires to candidates for political office and has made their responses available to news media.

"However, because of the restrictions imposed by the Code of Conduct for Judges, the responses of candidates will not be released by MCCC," Combs said. Questions included in the questionnaires were:

1. Do you believe the "diversion program" of the District Attorney's office is lawful?

2. Will you instruct Grand Juries as to the appropriate persons who shall appear before them and what influence, if any, shall be exercised on them by prosecuting attorneys who appear before them?

3. Will you instruct Grand Juries that the viewpoint or opinion of a district

School workers pay hike delayed; transfers ok'd

The Hancock County School Board has delayed action on a proposed 10 to 16 percent salary increase for non certified employees.

The salary increase was recommended by Superintendent Terry Randolph at a recess board meeting Saturday morning.

The board, however, took the matter under advisement for further study. Randolph had asked for approval of an across-the-board increase of 10 percent, with an additional increment of one-half of one percent for each year of service in the Hancock County system up to 12 years.

Also at Saturday's meeting, the board approved the purchase of some $11,476 in tables and chairs under state contract to complete the furnishing of the new food service facility at Hancock North Central.

Seating accommodations for 550 will be available in the new facility. The purchase order by the board authorized the buying of 348 chairs and 60 tables to be added to those held over from the old cafeteria.

Also approved Saturday by the board is the expenditure of some $8,000 in local funds to cover partial cost of air conditioning in the cafeteria.

School Architect John Mykolyk told the board HNC's new cafeteria will be complete "by mid-July."

Also scheduled for completion this summer are the lobby of the HNC gym and an addition to the HNC principal's

Mirex supply available free, poison outlawed after July 1

More than 20 tons of mirex-based fire ant poison is available for free distribution to Hancock County residents through County Agent John Smith's office.

Smith said Wednesday the fire ant bait has been made available through the Mississippi Department of Agriculture.

Hugh Sanford, State Agriculture Department representative, said 2.5 pounds of the insecticide is recommended per acre.

Smith said five-pound bags are available at his office to residential householders. The officials recommended householders coordinate their eradication programs with neighbors to help insure long-term relief from the pests.

Large quantities are also available, for distribution to large land holders. Smith said the fire ant bait is stored in a warehouse on Necaise St., Bay St. Louis, near his office.

Persons desiring the poison in any quantity should apply at Smith's office. The poison is being distributed with the understanding it will be used before July 1.

An Environmental Protection

Agency ban on mirex becomes effective July 1, according to the agriculture officials.

"People must put it out before July 1 - we don't want it put up on a shelf or it will lose its value," Smith said.

Smith said the substance is safe to use. "The normal precautions taken in handling any chemical should be exercised, such as washing one's hands after handling it," Smith noted.

The County Agent said availability of ferriamicide, the mirex substitute, after July 1 is now uncertain, with an environmental suit against its use currently pending.

Fishery council seeks curb on foreign boats

Unrestricted permits allowing Cuban vessels to fish for sharks in Gulf of Mexico waters south of Hancock County have been issued by the U.S. Commerce Department.

The Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council said the Commerce Department is issuing permits to 22 Cuban vessels with a total allocation of 1,000 metric tons of 2.2 million pounds of sharks.

The total allocation limit is the only restriction provided on the permits, the Gulf Council reported.

The Gulf Council, upon review of the permit applications, had recommended that certain restrictions be made a part of any permits granted in order to protect the domestic shark fishery and the red grouper-snapper fishery from localized overharvest.

Data provided and information obtained by Council representative Robert Mauermann at fishery talks in Havana, indicated that Cuban shark fishing gear is capable of taking large grouper and snapper as well as sharks.

The Gulf Council in recognition of the recent growth of the domestic recreational and commercial shark fishery made the following recommendations to the Secretary of Commerce.

(1) That only 518 metric tons of the total Atlantic foreign allocation of 1150 metric tons be allocated from the Gulf to prevent localized overharvest.

(2) That Cuban fishing be limited to seaward of the 100-fathom curve and not allowed outside the 100-fathom curve in the Florida Keys, Florida Desota Canyon area and at the mouth of the Mississippi River.

These restrictions were requested to prevent Cuban harvest in areas that would impact on domestic shark fisheries.

To prevent incidental harvest of grouper and snapper by the Cubans the Gulf Council made the following recommendations to the Secretary

on potential shock hazard of shaver

U. S. Consumer Product Safety Commission has announced that a quality control audit has revealed that under certain conditions a small number—estimated to be 119 shavers out of a total approximately 280,000—of its women's rechargeable electric shavers may pose a shock hazard.

The 119 shavers may contain pierced insulation between the batteries and an exterior metal base plate. A possible shock may occur if the base plate is touched to a person who is simultaneously contacting a ground while the shaver is plugged in. The shavers were distributed nationwide between July 1973 and March 1978 at a retail price of approximately $25. Only women's rechargeable shavers with the model numbers 3B2L or 6B2L imprinted on the base plate on the bottom of the shaver and containing a large R on the base plate are being corrected. No other Remington shavers are involved.

Although no incidents of shock have been reported, consumers who have a model 3B2L or 6B2L women's rechargeable shaver are urged to discontinue use of the product and to send their names and addresses to Sperry Remington, Dept. CN, 60 Main St., Bridgeport, Conn. 06602, or to call toll-free 1-800-243-9381.

Sperry Remington will then send an easy-to-apply self-adhesive insulator and instructions to the consumer to eliminate this possibility of electric shock. If it is more convenient, a consumer may bring the shaver to the nearest authorized Sperry Remington Service facility for correction at no cost.

To verify the model numbers, call CPSC's toll-free hotline at 800-638-2666.

Sunday morning there will be a "Rewards Breakfast" held and hosted by the Hattiesburg Club. The breakfast will feature "Mrs. Enthusiasm," Mrs. Kaler Fultz and her assistant, Mrs. Vangie Fields. They will be in charge of all the "Rewards" given.

Following the breakfast, a Memorial Service is scheduled in honor of the deceased members for the year with Mrs. Kathleen Wiley in charge.

Passport unnecessary for 'armchair traveler'

"Travel Alone And Love It" is a most practical book by Kate Aitken. Its practicality is not needed however, by the Armchair Traveler. He gets his ticket, his passport, his

Signup period extended for '78 grain programs

ACCS Reports

Pearl River and Hancock County farmers have been given an additional two weeks to sign up for the 1978 wheat, feed grain and cotton programs, Franklin A. Gennin, county executive director of the Pearl River-Hancock County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service office, reported.

The May 15 deadline has been extended through May 31.

"The additional time should be helpful to farmers whose busy schedules may have prevented them from visiting the county office, and also to those who may still be undecided about participating," Mr. Gennin said.

He explained that there is no penalty if set aside participants decide not to plant a program crop such as wheat, corn or grain sorghum, and that they should sign up to assure themselves of program benefits.

Farmers who sign up will be eligible for price support loans, target price and disaster payments for corn, grain sorghum, rice, upland cotton, and wheat on the participating farm, and eligible for loans on any other normal crop acreage grown on the farm.

Farmers must also sign up by May 15 to qualify for corn, grain sorghum, and upland cotton voluntary diversion payments.

The signup period was extended due to inclement weather that has damaged or prevented crops from being planted. Also, the new farm bill signed into law raised the target price of wheat from $3 to $3.40-bushel. This increase will also make deficiency payment higher if participating farms are determined to be eligible.

USDA EXTENSION

Acting Secretary of Agriculture Carol Tucker Foreman last week raised the target price for wheat from $3 to $3.40 per bushel and the loan rate for upland cotton from 44 cents to 48 cents per pound. Authority to raise these rates was granted in the Emergency Agricultural Act of 1978 signed by President Carter.

Ms. Foreman said that the higher target price for wheat should encourage more wheat producers to sign up for the 1978 Wheat Program, while the higher upland cotton loan rate will provide producers needed added support but will not bring the minimum U.S. Price for cotton to a level that would interfere with U.S. exports.

The acting secretary also announced that the sign-up period for 1978 crop programs will be extended from May 15 to 31. This will allow producers additional time to assess the implications of the new target and loan rates and decide on their participation in the 1978 program, she said.

What does a Circuit Court Judge do?

Kosta Vlahos explains:

"As important as the office of U.S. Senator is, your circuit court judge has a stronger effect on your daily life. He runs, in a very real sense, the people's court. Property disputes, automobile accidents, insurance claims, personal injuries, burglaries, assaults, rapes, murders, frauds; all go through the circuit court.

"How the judge conducts the court directly affects how the police do their job. Affects whether we feel safe in our home, or business. Strongly influences the attitudes of young people.

"His most important duty is to oversee the trial. Make sure that the rules of fairness are scrupulously followed. Control the aggressive or unruly. Soothe ruffled feelings. Interpret the law. Try to help the jury penetrate to the truth.

"However, a judge can be knowledgeable and fair-minded — and still be a poor judge. If he is ill-organized, or lazy, cases will pile up. Witnesses move away. Evidence go stale. Justice will be delayed or thwarted."

Kosta Vlahos is a worker. He started work at twelve, washing dishes in the family restaurant. He worked all through Biloxi High School, where he was elected president of the student body. He entered Tulane University at 17. He worked in the cafeteria to pay part of his expenses, was vice president of the School of Business Administration, and was graduated in June 1963 as a Bachelor of Business Administration. While in law school at Ole Miss, he held down three jobs: dormitory manager, legal researcher and laundry man. He was awarded his Juris Doctorate in 1966. He enlisted in the National Guard that same year, and was commissioned 2nd Lieutenant in the United States Army on August 26, 1968. He was later commissioned a Lieutenant in the U.S. Navy, serving in a Navy Law Company.

When 29 years old, he was elected by the attorneys of Harrison, Hancock and Stone Counties as their representative to the Mississippi State Bar Association. Two years later he was elected President of the Harrison County Bar Association.

Vlahos practices in the court-houses at Bay St. Louis, Wiggins, Gulfport and Biloxi. While serving as Assistant District Attorney for Harrison, Hancock and Stone Counties, he prosecuted and won a $175,000 land fraud case against two Mississippi State Highway Department officials.

He has handled every kind of criminal case, including murder. He has represented both complainants and defendants in every kind of civil suit.

Kosta's wife, Kally, teaches high school classes in World History and Government. She holds Master's degrees in Political Science and Secondary Education. They are expecting their first child in July.

Kosta is president of his church council and a lay reader in his Bible study group. He is active in the Chamber of Commerce, the Jaycees, Rotary, and the American Heart Association.

Kosta Vlahos has broad experience in law. He has the respect of his fellow lawyers and the judges. He proved his independence during his vigorous prosecution of the Highway Land Fraud case. And he knows what it means to work. Isn't he the kind of man we need for Circuit Judge?

In Waveland League

Top-ranked Astros rally to seventh inning win over Sox

Edmund Fahey's Astros rallied for eight runs in a tie-breaking seventh inning to stop Lil Ray's Red Sox, 20-12, Tuesday in Waveland Elwood Little League play at Elwood Park.

Red Sox pitcher Dean DiSalvo walked three in a row in the first as the Astros jetted to a six run lead mid-way through the opening set. Second baseman Marc Lemay and catcher John Henry both scored for the Red Sox in the bottom of the period on a hit by Wallace Bourgeois.

In the bottom of the second, an attempted double play caused a few minutes of confusion as the second base umpire called a Red Sox runner out at second. Since the baseman did not tag the runner, and the runner had the option of returning to first, the Red Sox player was reinstated.

Charles Burton opened the third for Fahey's with a triple to the left field fence that knocked in one run. Burton scored on a single by Billy Davis to put the Astros ahead, 11-2.

The Red Sox got a piece of the ball as Gifford Pace singled to left, Edward Heath doubled on errors, and a Bourgeois double scored Pace. Byron Thomas then tripled to score two more, putting Lil Ray's back in the game with an 11-5 tally.

Thomas single-handedly made the Red Sox a threat with a grand slam home run in the bottom of the fourth. Both teams were held to one run each in the fifth and the Astros were blanked out in the top of the sixth. Going into the bottom of the sixth, Lil Ray's was two points behind.

With the game tied at 12-12 at the end of six innings, the game was sent into a seventh inning tie breaker. John Henry took the mound for Lil Ray's.

Most of the Astros runs in the seventh were unearned, with runners sliding home as the Red Sox in-field lost control of the ball. Fahey's opened scoring with two runs, one on a single and the other as the ball got away from the catcher.

Burton, from the Astro's left field slot, knocked in one run on a triple then slid in home himself on another escaped ball. As the Red Sox tried to hold the Astro batters, the ball was overthrown at third for a score then a loose ball at home allowed another run. In all, the Astros eased home eight runners.

A downcast set of Red Sox batters gave up two outs, the first on a high fly to left field and the second on a strike-out by Astro relief pitcher Billy Davis, opening the bottom of the seventh before Bourgeois got on base. The bases were loaded by the next two batters before the next one flied out.

Randy Hoth took the win for the Astros, who are currently ranked number one in the Waveland League.

MGA AT BAY

The Diamondhead Country Club is hosting the Mississippi Golf Association's amateur championship through Friday. Play on the 72-hole course began Wednesday with 222 Mississippi Golfers participating. Meridian's Mike Taylor is defending champ. The MGA tourney was last held on the Coast in 1972.

FISH FRY
The Mississippi Fish and Game Commission suggests that more fishing trips are not fully enjoyed due to the cooking of the catch than in any other way. Here's one recipe that the Commission claims to be sure-fire. Cut fish into pieces one-inch wide, three-inches long and one-half inch thick. Make batter of two eggs, six-ounces 7-up, two cups pancake flour, salt, pepper, pinch of onion salt, pinch of garlic salt, pinch of paprika. Batter should be consistency of pancake mix. Dip fillets in batter and fry in oil until golden brown.

Bay St. Louis
Little League Baseball
BY RONNIE MURRAY

With one week left in the first round of the Bay St. Louis Little League season, three teams are still in the running for the first round title. Riemann's is in first place with a 4-1 record, Gulf National is second with a 4-2, and Edmund Fahey is third with a 3-2 showing.

Mike Ladner continues to lead the league in hitting with a .563 average. Ronnie Lyons leads all pitchers with a 4-0 record. Gary Byrd is second at 2-0. Byrd and David McIver have the only homeruns of the season. McIvers was a shot over the center field fence while Byrd's was inside the park.

In this week's games Gulf National won two important games to pull within one half game of first place. Riemann's lost its first game of the season and Edmund Fahey lost twice. Merchant's upset last years champion Hancock Bank to knock them out of competition for the first round title. McIver and Byrd teamed up to throw a no-hitter against American Legion, claiming the win for Gulf National. Byrd was three for three. Hancock Bank handed Edmund Fahey its first defeat of the season, 4-2. Jeff Smith pitched six strong innings for Hancock, allowing only two hits. American Legion defeated Merchants Bank, 14-0, behind a ten hit attack. Robert Whavers and Brian Laneaux each had three hits for American Legion. Mike Seuzeneau was the winning pitcher. Gulf National handed Riemann's its first defeat of the season, 7-3. Gary Byrd was the winning pitcher and had a home run for Gulf National. Merchants Bank got its first win of the season when it upset Hancock Bank 12-2. Shane Corr led the attack for Merchants with three hits and several outstanding defensive plays. Craig Breland was the winning pitcher. In the big game of the week, Edmund Fahey's and Riemann's (both 3-1) played for sole possession of first place. Both teams played evenly for the first part of the game but the strong pitching arm of Ronnie Lyons shut

House numbering

Tuesday we were approached by a subscriber, who has been faced with the age old problem of trying to find someone's residence when there isn't a house number.

Since we are a home-delivered newspaper, we are very much experienced with this problem, trying to put down the location of a new subscriber for our carrier sometimes includes the color of paint, trim, trees or any other identifying marks we can solicit.

We still wonder what the people who don't have house numbers do when their house is on fire, if they have to call for emergency medical service, or if there is a disturbance and they have to call law enforcement officers. It must take them sometime to give all the identifying characteristics of their residence.

We feel, as our subscriber, something should be done in Bay St. Louis, Waveland, and Hancock County on the numbering of every building. It should be the task of the owners, but sometimes, some of them may need a helping hand.

We do have several organizations looking for something worthwhile to do, and seeing that every building is numbered might be a good suggestion.

We also note several streets without identification (of course we realize they probably have been at one time), these should be properly marked.

Newcomers to our communities are amazed by the fact that all buildings are not numbered.

We just wonder who will do the numbering!

We can be proud

Having read several reports about the lack of respect for those who gave their lives in Vietnam, Korea, World War II and World War I, we are very proud of the Memorial Services held in Bay St. Louis and Waveland.

As guest speaker, Congressman Trent Lott said in Waveland, "So many people have forgotten," the horrors of wars and those who give their lives.

We, as members of the American Legion can be very proud of the patriotism shown in Hancock County, even if other parts of the nation forget.

We, as Americans, must remember we have freedoms that didn't come easy, we had to fight for them so we must continue to remember those who gave their lives for these freedoms.

Avenue of Flags

Dear Editor:

We, the citizens of Waveland, had two special things happen to us this week.

First was the beautiful "Avenue of Flags" for which a special thank you goes to the American Legion who donated the flags and to our city employees for the installation.

The second was the terrific job the young people did on the empty lot at the corner of Coleman and Beach Blvd.

They cut the grass and picked up trash improving the area greatly and I feel sure they will continue to keep this area clean if they can stop the grown-ups from littering.

Thanks to all that worked so hard.

Sincerely
Anne Ashman
Mollere Realty.

Farmers Market

Dear Sir:

On behalf of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce, the Hancock County Farm Bureau, and the Hancock County Extension Service, I want to thank you for the excellent coverage you provided for the opening of the Farmers Market.

We are very proud of the Farmers Market and, in our second year we are proud to say that this year's market looks as if it will be even more successful than last year.

Unity is a word that the Chamber uses often because it is our desire to be a united county and, we feel this joint effort of the three organizations, along with the farmers and the consumers, is a strong step towards a more united community.

Your coverage of this event, as well as the other events the Chamber has been involved in, is greatly appreciated.

Sincerely,

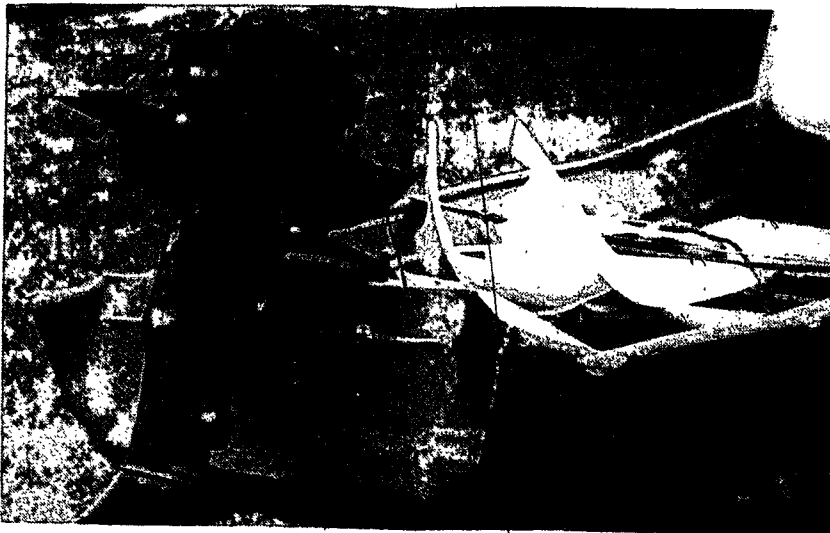

L. J. Breaux
Agricultural Chairman

RAVAGES OF A STORM - This boat and motor were damaged in a twister-type storm Saturday in Leetown Community of Hancock County. Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Taylor's property was hit by the storm and severe damage sustained by their house trailer, boat and motor, a mobile home, 72-ft. CB radio antenna and utility shed. The winds picked up a John Deere 68 riding mower and moved it several hundred feet. The Taylor's two young children and Mrs. Taylor's brother Freddie Wheat were in the house trailer when the winds struck and they report hall was the size of golf balls. Another trailer was turned over in Leetown by the same weather. (Staff photo - Ellis Cuevas) but I am afraid of the trend that is developing in Washington. President Carter has a bill to do away with veterans' preference. I am against that bill and will continue to vote against it," the Republican representative continued.

"As long as I am in Washington I am going to fight for the Veterans programs they are trying to take away. We have to pay attention to the needs of our veterans," he continued.

"Amnesty was given to the draft dodgers, and now they want to give them benefits and take away benefits from the veterans - we must not forget the veterans who made it possible to maintain the freedoms we so deeply cherish," he emphasized.

On the Panama Canal treaty Lott said he was against it. "If I had a chance to vote on it, I would vote against it, our Mississippi senators voted against it. We all must not forget those who voted for the Panama Canal treaty," he exclaimed.

"I want my son to appreciate the flag and everything good it stands for. We have to teach our youth the value of the freedoms we have today. We are not at war today, but if someone wants to lower the flag, we must say no," commented Lott.

"I am tired of our country being subservient to the Soviet Union in the Far East, the Mideast, and now Africa. The only thing the Russians understand is strength. We must send people to Washington who will stand up for the people, keep our military strong," Lott warned the audience.

Commander Richard Davis, American Legion Post 77, welcomed the people to the special services after an invocation by Rev. Charles Johnson, pastor of Christ Episcopal Church. A long list of guests were welcomed by Davis.

Past commander Martin Blanchard, on the dedication of the Flags, commented about those whose lives were lost in wars: "If they could see Coleman Avenue, they would know they didn't die in vain."

Donald Decker, Post 77 vice commander, recognized WW I veterans of the post. Raymond Nelson, Len Auber, Milton Durel, Dan T. Mooney and David Markey were honored for more than 50 years of American Legion service. Durel has 55 years of continuous service.

Honored as gold star mothers were Mrs. Margaret Stieffel, Mrs. Agnus Ray and Mrs. Rose Guenard.

The special services ended when Sergeant-At-Arms Norman Scott demonstrated the correct way to burn an American Flag no longer serviceable.

A band from Keesler Air Force Base played during the ceremony and the Boy Scouts of Troup 364 led the Pledge of Allegiance.

Refreshments were served to the group by American Legion Post 77 Auxiliary.

3. Will you exercise your authority to imprison a party or otherwise enforce your court orders for the financial support of children?

"In effect," Combs said, "strict adherence to these restrictions would make every political campaign for judgeship meaningless, since no candidate can make a pledge or promise as to what he will do if elected."

"How can voters make intelligent decisions if candidates are prohibited from announcing their views on serious matters of concern to the voter," he questioned.

"The Mississippi Coast Crime Commission believes this restriction leads to self-perpetuation of judges in office and is an unwarranted limitation not only of free speech but of the right of the voter to get from candidates answers to specific questions," he continued.

"The restrictions make the campaign process a farce, and are an insult to the intelligence of voters. The Mississippi Conference of Judges should immediately take steps to amend these restrictions so voters may be adequately informed," Combs said.

Saucier advances to Junior Olympic regionals in boxing

Troy Saucier will represent the Hancock County Boxing Club in the 1978 Junior Olympic boxing regionals June 9 and 10 in Amarillo Texas. Saucier, fighting in the 85 pound class, was runner-up in Lafayette, La., at the district level.

In the district bouts, Saucier lost a very close decision against last year's national champ, fighting before a home crowd. The Hancock fighter had his opponent almost stopped in the second round, but the former champ's experience and condition kept the young man from giving in. In the third round the Lafayette contestant outpointed Saucier to get a disputed decision.

Saucier was chosen alternate in his weight class by the contest chairman and boxing committee, under an Amateur Athletic Union rule. A freshman at Bay Junior High, Saucier is one of six children and is the son of Betty Robinson Saucier of Apt. 27 Sycamore Street in Bay St. Louis.

Three Hancock boxers who reached the district tourney with Saucier reached the finals and quarter-finals. Shawn Henderson brought home a silver medal for his performance. He lost in the finals. Darrell Robinson and Phillip Harleaux lost on a decision in the quarter-finals.

Kelise Banks and John Borman of the Harrison Country Club will represent Gulfport in the regionals. Teams from Biloxi, Long Beach, and Saucier did not place anyone on the team. Saucier leaves for Amarillo Wednesday and will continue on to the Junior Olympic national bouts sponsored by Sears and Roebuck Company the following week in Tucson, Arizona.

The speed limit is 25 miles per hour unless otherwise posted in Bay St. Louis according to Chief Williams. This sign is on Ullman Ave. by McDonald's playground. Williams added "citations will also be issued to pedestrians and motorists for the obstruction of traffic and also for interfering with police officers." (Staff photo - Ellis Cuevas)

Space workshop offered at USM

Special interest topics such as landing on Jupiter, aircraft accidents and the crowding of airways will highlight the 19th annual Aerospace Education Workshop on July 17-28 at the University of Southern Mississippi. The credit workshop is designed to familiarize participants with the role aviation and space exploration play in developing curriculum of the elementary and secondary schools.

The Mississippi State Department of Education will accept three semester hours of workshops credit for renewal of A and AA certificates, both elementary and secondary as well as renewal of certificates below A or AS.

Try this to pep up your scrambled eggs. Dice a peeled portion of eggplant and saute in butter in skillet till brown. Break eggs over eggplant and stir in with eggplant till done. Different and tasty!

Great silent partners in the bathroom are "Silent Maid" Dispenser and "Silent Maid" Concentrated Cleaner. The dispenser, which fits inside the toilet tank, releases a measured amount of Concentrate with each flush. The Cleaner fights odors while discouraging soil and stain build-up, and it's safe for septic tanks, too. Both from Stanley Home Products, originators of the famous "Hostess Party Plan."

Meet Handy. He's ready to serve you 24 hours a day.

We'd like you to meet someone very special. His name is Handy. He's the friendly little guy who takes care of Hancock Bank's brand new HandyBank. (Handy's feathered friend is Oscar, who lends him a helping wing).

It's Handy's job to help you take care of almost any service you'd find in the bank whenever you want. Anytime of the day or night, 365 days a year.

HandyBank offers more services. And better services.

HandyBank is different from any other 24-hour teller around. First of all, you can make cash withdrawals from your account in $10 and $20 increments up to $500. That's because Handy believes in super service.

Second, HandyBank lets you find out what your checking or savings balance is, exactly to the penny, anytime you want it. And Handy's even ready to type you out a written receipt for your records.

Hancock Bank's new HandyBank also has capabilities to offer even more services in the future.

HandyBank is easy to operate.

Simply insert your personal HandyCard in the slot. (If you don't have your card yet, don't worry. You can expect it in the mail soon). That tells Handy that somebody needs him.

Handy will then answer you on his electronic display board, telling you what to do next. Just follow his simple instructions. It's easy!

You can get cash, make deposits, payments, money transfers, or simply find out your checking or savings account balance. Handy's ready to help!

HandyBank is the handiest.

You'll find more HandyBanks in more locations than any other 24-hour teller. And that's important.

But how can Handy take care of all those HandyBanks at the same time?

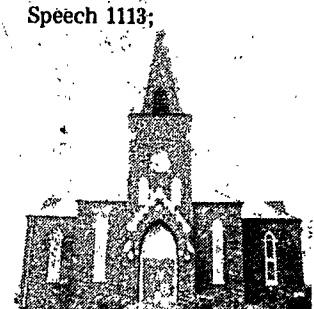

That's his little secret.

But we can assure you, he does a great job of it.

So come meet Handy (and Oscar!), at the HandyBank nearest you. You'll wonder how you ever got along without him.
